Let The Games Begin!

As we move down the tournament trail, we need to appreciate the opportunity to continue to these games play even more and not make winning and losing a life and death proposition. Because the sun comes up for both teams the next morning. Life goes on. The outcome the game is not life defining.

All too often, this kind of pressure is brought to bear on kids and coaches – and it's not fair. There's no doubt we all want to win, but in sports – just like in life – you can't win all the time.

But you can learn. And that's what's more important. That's what's life defining.

Enjoy the game today and remember what's really most important about school sports.
